2027 InFORM

REGIONAL MEETINGS

Reach environmental and public health decision makers from across the country

Select your sponsorship level today!

- Invest in your growth & your future
- Maximize your ROI
- Get in front of your audience—the buyers of your products and services

Reach Your Target Market

The Integrated Foodborne Outbreak Response and Management (InFORM) Conference brings together the network of federal, state, and local public health officials involved with foodborne and enteric disease outbreak response. If your target market includes the following decision makers, then join us as a sponsor for this conference.

- Public health professionals
- Environmental health specialists
- Epidemiologists
- Health communicators
- Laboratory scientists

Show Your Commitment With Sponsorship

Becoming a sponsor shows participants from across the country, from small organizations to very large agencies, that you are committed to the advancement of environmental public health and have what they need to support their work, including tools for:

- Data & technology
- Emergency preparedness & response
- Environmental health impact assessment
- Environmental justice
- Food safety & defense
- Hazardous & toxic materials
- Healthy homes & communities
- Infectious diseases
- School & institutions
