IV. Policies Related to the CFSSA Credential Program
Introduction

Welcome! Thank you for your interest in the Certified in Food Safety Supplier Audits (CFSSA) credential offered by the National Environmental Health Association (NEHA). The CFSSA credential was developed to meet the needs of those professionals responsible for ensuring that Food Safety Plans are in place, appropriate and followed to ensure a safe food supply in the US and globally. Food Safety Professionals who earn the CFSSA credential have demonstrated their knowledge and competency in the area of food safety auditing and are dedicated to upholding high standards of ethical and professional practice in the field of food safety auditing. This handbook contains the application procedures, requirements for eligibility to sit for the CFSSA credential examination, and the policies that guide the decisions on credentialing. NEHA created a certification committee, an independently appointed body to provide oversight of the credential program and in compliance with the standards established under ISO/IEC 17024, for the CFSSA credential. The practice of establishing a certification committee is common in professional credentialing programs developed under the auspices of a parent organization in order to prevent both the appearance of, and real, conflicts-of-interest from emerging. This practice also assures that all credentialing decisions and practices are made in accordance with credentialing program requirements and are not linked to other Association programs or membership requirements. While the credentialing program evolves, it is expected that the committee structure will do so as well; however, the separation of credentialing from other Association activities will remain the practice. The credentialing program is administered by the NEHA staff headquartered in Denver, Colorado.

NEHA is dedicated to offering a credentialing program that is credible and based on best credential practices; it is a goal of NEHA to seek accreditation of the CFSSA program under ISO/IEC 17024 administered by the American National Standards Institute (ANSI). In an effort to meet accreditation requirements, NEHA offers a full-scope credentialing program that is comprised of the following key components:

- A certification committee with policies and procedures guiding all decisions on credentialing
- Eligibility requirements and application submission and review procedures
- An examination testing the competency and knowledge requirements of food safety auditors today
- Recertification requirements for maintenance the credential
- A Code of Ethics all FSAs must abide by and uphold
- Complaints and disciplinary procedures.

NEHA has spent considerable time and resources to develop a credential program of integrity, balancing the interests of all stakeholders served by the credential, including regulatory agencies, business, academia, and food safety professionals. In developing the program requirements, NEHA has adhered to practices that assure the following important program outcomes:

- Validity of the credential examination
- Fairness of the procedures associated with granting, maintaining, suspending and removing the credential
- Establishment of requirements for qualifying to earn the credential
- Establishment of the requirements for maintaining the credential
- Assurances that the public trust is served through the credential program
- Credibility in the administration and maintenance of the program.
The competency requirements of the CFSSA credential examination emanate from a comprehensive job task analysis study which defines the job description for the Food Safety Auditor as follows:

A Food Safety Auditor conducts risk-based facility audits (foreign or domestic) against internationally recognized food safety standards designed to mitigate risk, promote food safety and enhance consumer confidence in the food supply.

II. About the CFSSA exam—Requirements and Exam Information

About the CFSSA Examination

Individuals meeting eligibility requirements must pass a multiple-choice exam to qualify for credential and earn the CFSSA designation. The exam consists of 175 multiple-choice questions and you have 3 hours to take the exam. One-hundred and fifty questions are scored, and 25 are pre-tested for statistical purposes, but not scored. You are only scored on the 150 exam questions and only correct answers are counted. You will not receive feedback on the pre-tested questions.

Your Pearson VUE computer test appointment is for 3 hours and 15 minutes. You will have five minutes to agree to the nondisclosure agreement for the CFSSA examination, and 10 minutes to go through the exam tutorial. Thereafter, you will have 3 hours to take the exam. You are permitted to take a restroom break; however, your break time counts in the 3 hours allotted to test.

The CFSSA examination was developed by subject-matter experts under the guidance of psychometricians (experts in measurement and test development) and is designed to measure the knowledge, skills and abilities required to perform competently as a person Certified in Food Safety Supplier Audits. The passing point—or the score you need to achieve to pass—was also determined utilizing valid psychometric procedures.

The CFSSA examination questions cover the knowledge in each of the domains in the examination content outline. Candidates are encouraged to refer to the examination content outline which can be accessed by the following link http://neha.org/professional-development/credentials/cfssa to become familiar with the content areas on the CFSSA examination. Candidates may review the examination content outline to assess their level of knowledge in each of the content areas, and to identify the areas in which they believe they need additional preparation.

Each application must be accompanied by an application fee and exam fee of $355.00 Member/$495.00 Non-member. Please note that application fees ($160.00 Member/$185.00 Non-member) are non-refundable. Pearson VUE computer testing fees are $110.00. Fees are to be paid in U.S. dollars.

Individuals who fail the exam and wish to retake it, must pay a retake fee of $195.00 Member/$310 Non-member, plus the $110.00 Pearson VUE fee if the exam is taken on a computer.

Candidates will also have the opportunity to make comments on the computer during a Pearson VUE exam as well as on paper during a paper and pencil exam.
NEHA credential staff will not consider reports about improper test administration procedures or test content which exceed the 5 day deadline for doing so, or are not submitted in writing. You will not be allowed to take notes out of the testing center, so submit your concerns via the comment button on the computer, the comment sheet in paper and pencil exams, or email the credential staff following the exam.

Summary of Scoring Process

The minimum passing score for the CFSSA examination has been determined utilizing acceptable psychometric procedures. The CFSSA examination is criterion-referenced. The final passing score is established by a panel of subject-matter experts who determine the minimally acceptable level of competence for awarding the CFSSA credential, and the passing score is applied to all test takers. You must achieve the passing score to pass the examination. There are no exceptions. Results are reported as “pass” or “fail.”

Score Reports

Candidates will receive their unofficial score report at the computer testing center. Candidates who fail will receive a diagnostic report of their overall performance on each content area of the exam. This information is provided so candidates may see their areas of weakness, and better prepare to retake the exam. Scores issued at the computer testing center are “unofficial.” A quality check is performed post-exam and NEHA credential staff will issue the official score report to the candidate within four weeks.

Cancellation of Scores

NEHA and PTI reserve the right to cancel any examination score if, in its judgment, there is any reason to question the score’s validity. Conduct which warrants score cancellation may include, but is not limited to: consulting study aids of any type during a testing session; copying from notes or from another examinee’s answers during a testing session; speaking or otherwise communicating with others during a testing session; copying, photographing, transcribing, or otherwise reproducing test materials; removing test materials from the examination site; aiding other examinees or receiving aid from anyone else; or having improper access to the CFSSA examination content prior to the examination administration. Engaging in such misconduct may disqualify the individual from all future examinations and from ever being certified. Significant score increases upon retesting may also be investigated to ensure the authenticity of results.

Appealing Exam Results

Candidates who fail the exam may appeal their results within 30 days of receipt of the score report must make this request in writing, and submit the appropriate documentation and $50 fee. NEHA staff will review the response record and the determination will be communicated to the candidate within 60 days. The determination of NEHA shall be final. Scores that are cancelled are not subject to appeal.
NEHA is committed to upholding the highest ethical standards in the profession. Individuals who apply for the credential are required to sign and return the CFSSA Code of Ethics at the time of application. III. Preparation for the CFSSA Examination

CFSSA Examination Content Outline

As you prepare for the CFSSA credential examination, you are strongly encouraged to review the examination content outline. The outline contains the major content areas on the exam, and the percentage of the exam each content area represents. Use it to guide you in identifying any content areas you need extra time and resources to prepare for, and ask yourself the questions found below. You may access the examination content outline by clicking on this link http://neha.org/professional-development/credentials/cfssa.

- Which content areas represent the greatest number of test questions?
- How much time do you need to focus on these areas to prepare for the exam, versus other areas?
- How do your current knowledge and skills compare to the content areas of the exam? Are you strong in some, but weak on others?
- How much training or work have you done in the areas on the exam?

Your analysis of the content outline and your answers to the questions above will help you determine where you need to spend your study time.
Testing Tips

On the day of the exam:

- Plan to arrive at the exam site at least 15 minutes prior to your appointment. If you have considerable distance to travel, consider arriving the night before.
- Get a good night’s rest the night before.
